About PARSA

The ANU Postgraduate and Research Students' Association (PARSA) is the officially recognized body representing the more than 11,000 postgraduate students enrolled at Australian National University. It works to the following vision: to be an inclusive, diverse, and representative community of postgraduate students who advocate for students. PARSA has three pillars which guide its work: advocacy, welfare and community-building.

Role Description: President

This is a critical, time-intensive role, responsible for the good governance, leadership and direction of the organisation, the effective representation of students to the University and beyond, and being the "face and voice" of PARSA to members, the University and the wider community.

The successful candidate will need to hold regular office hours and be available to members, officers, and PARSA and University staff for Association-related business between 21-35 (or more) hours per week during term-time, exam periods and semester breaks. Traditionally, Presidents have significantly reduced their course-load once elected due to the time commitments required of the role.

The President is both the Chief Executive Officer (CEO) and Chair of the Postgraduate Representative Council (PRC). The PRC is PARSA's governance body, and is comprised of 31 elected postgraduate students – four executive-team members, eight portfolio officers, two representatives of each college, and five general representatives. It meets every four weeks, at which council members can raise issues, and make decisions on behalf of the organisation. These meetings typically last two hours.

The President also chairs:

- meetings of the PARSA Executive Team (see below for further information)
- meetings of PARSA officers
- the Annual General Meeting, which is traditionally held in May of each year, at which the President's Report, Treasurer's Report and organisation's Financial Statements must be approved by the membership
- Ordinary General Meetings

Role Description: Executive Team

The Executive is made up of the President, Vice President, Treasurer and General Secretary, and any other PRC members selected by the President. Executive Team members provide greater management oversight of the financial, legal and strategic activity of the organisation than that of non-Executive PRC members, and contribute to the decision-making of the organisation on an operational level.**

Executive Team meetings are chaired by the President and attended by the Executive team, the General Manager, and any other staff or officers the President invites to attend. It typically meets weekly, but at minimum a week or two before each PRC meeting, and when necessary. These meetings usually run for two hours, with an additional 1-2 hours required to prepare and read papers ahead of the meeting. Attendance at PRC and executive meetings is mandatory.

* The PARSA Constitution provides for payment of honoraria to the President and, at the President's discretion, to officers of the PRC. Currently PARSA policy for payment of honoraria was agreed at the September 26, 2016 PRC meeting. Honoraria is provided to officers for going above and beyond their volunteer duties with the Association and is not a legal entitlement of holding office. PRC members who receive honoraria do so in accordance with decisions of the President and PRC under the PARSA constitution and pursuant to honoraria powers in the Constitution. Contact PARSA General Manager Mike Heffron at mike.heffron@anu.edu.au for details on honoraria payments.

** The Executive is a committee of the PRC. The full PRC holds the Executive team members accountable for their decisions at PRC meetings, as does the membership at the Annual General Meeting. Each member of the PRC is collectively responsible for any decision made by the Executive Team and their fellow Board members.

President's responsibilities

- Represent and further the interests of postgraduate students at all levels of study with the University and beyond across a range of issues through ANU committees, stakeholder meetings, task forces.
- Be the spokesperson for the Students' Association and oversee matters relating to public affairs and press management, membership communication, internal Students' Association operations.
- Provide strategic leadership, and work with the PRC and staff to ensure all of the work performed by the organisation aligns with PARSA's Strategic Plan (which is currently being developed).
- Liaise and work with external and internal stakeholders, including the Students' Associations' members and staff, Australian National University, external organisations such as the Council of Australian Postgraduate Associations \(CAPA\) and public officials, to develop outcomes that benefit PARSA's membership.
- Work closely with staff, the Treasurer and other PRC members immediately following the election to prepare a budget proposal for the upcoming financial year, and lead the SSAF-negotiation team.
- Ensure that members of the Students' Association are involved in developing and implementing projects, policies and campaigns. Seek opportunities to interact, consult, and elicit new ideas with members in order to better represent their views, and act proactively to address issues which negatively affect them.
- Provide practical support and knowledge to other elected representatives, particularly on issues which affect students outside of their academic work.
- Oversee the work of PARSA's elected officers to ensure PARSA's operations are delivered on time and to budget, and deliver value to the student population.

Officer responsibilities – applies to all Executive team and Portfolio Officers

- Work closely with the other Officers on Students' Association campaigns. Some of these may relate to Officers' objectives, but many are often reactive, depending on issues that arise throughout the year.
- Contribute to and influence University strategies through participation in ANU committees, PARSA campaigns, organisational working groups, and informal networking, to ensure that student interests are effectively represented.
- Uphold and advance the reputation of the organisation, attending and speaking at official ANU and other relevant stakeholder events and ceremonies as appropriate (e.g. O-Week talks, graduation).
- Support and promote PARSA activities which support the goals of the Strategic Plan (to be shortly published), including but not limited to O-Week and Welcome Week, elections outreach, face-to-face and social media engagement, membership engagement and feedback, and Students' Association-led events.
- Provide regular reports on efforts to improve the lives of members, and provide opportunities to be held accountable for the progress of this work, at Executive Meetings, Postgraduate Representative Council meetings (PRC), the Annual General Meeting (AGM), and other events as necessary.
- Act as the first point of contact for students with questions or concerns, signposting students to the Students' Association's council members or staff, where appropriate.

Chair Responsibilities – applies to the President

- Provide oversight of meeting organisation.
- Ensure agenda items are sought, and the final agenda and reports circulated, ahead of the meeting.
