About PARSA

The ANU Postgraduate and Research Students' Association (PARSA) is the officially recognized body representing the more than 11,000 postgraduate students enrolled at Australian National University. It works to the following vision: to be an inclusive, diverse, and representative community of postgraduate students who advocate for students. PARSA has three pillars which guide its work: advocacy, welfare and community-building.

Role Description: Vice President

This is a critical, time-intensive role, with principal responsibility for leading the organisation's work around key organizational projects, advocacy and campaigning, ensuring that the postgraduate student voice is being heard and acted upon by the University and beyond.

The successful candidate will need to hold regular office hours and be available to members, officers, and PARSA and University staff for Association-related business for 15 or more hours per week during term-time, exam periods and semester breaks.

Role Description: PRC and Executive Team

The Postgraduate Representative Council (PRC) is PARSA's governance body, and is comprised of 31 elected postgraduate students – four executive-team members, eight portfolio officers, two representatives of each college, and five general representatives. It meets every four weeks, at which council members can raise issues, and make decisions on behalf of the organisation. These meetings typically last two hours.

The Executive of the PRC is made up of the President (Chair), Vice President, Treasurer and General Secretary, and any other PRC members selected by the President. Executive Team members provide greater management oversight of the financial, legal and strategic activity of the organisation than that of non-Executive Team members, and contribute to the decision-making of the organisation on an operational level.**

Executive Team meetings are chaired by the President and attended by the Executive team, the General Manager, and any other staff or officers the President invites to attend. It typically convenes weekly, but at minimum a week or two before each PRC meeting, and when necessary. These meetings usually run for two hours, with an additional 1-2 hours required to prepare and read papers ahead of the meeting.

Attendance at PRC and executive meetings is mandatory.

* The PARSA Constitution provides for payment of honoraria to the President and, at the President's discretion, to officers of the PRC. Currently PARSA policy for payment of honoraria was agreed at the September 26, 2016 PRC meeting. Honoraria is provided to officers for going above and beyond their volunteer duties with the Association and is not a legal entitlement of holding office. PRC members who receive honoraria do so in accordance with decisions of the President and PRC under the PARSA constitution and pursuant to honoraria powers in the Constitution. Contact PARSA General Manager Mike Heffron at mike.heffron@anu.edu.au for details on honoraria payments.

** The Executive is a committee of the PRC. The full PRC holds the Executive team members accountable for their decisions at PRC meetings, as does the membership at the Annual General Meeting. Each member of the PRC is collectively responsible for any decision made by the Executive Team and their fellow Board members.

Vice President's Responsibilities

- Support and help co-ordinate PARSA responses to key ANU or external issues that affect students.
- Lead on the development of policy and campaigning positions that support the Students' Association's ongoing activity to improve students' lives
- Support the President and officers in taking action on decisions made by the organisation.
- Work closely with the Advocacy and Engagement staff member to develop contacts, build coalitions and recruit support among members, other students, Australian National University staff, peak Education Association bodies, National Tertiary Education Union (NTEU), and public officials to secure policy and campaign wins that measurably improve students' lives in both the short and long-term.
- Ensure that members of the Students' Association are involved in developing and implementing projects, policies and campaigns. Seek opportunities to interact, consult, and elicit new ideas with members in order to better represent their views, and act proactively to address issues which negatively affect them.
- Work with staff to provide practical knowledge and support to other elected representatives, particularly the Equity, International, Indigenous Australian, Environment and Women's Officers, on issues which relate to improving the lives of students, including events they undertake.
- Deputise for the President as requested, and as provided for within the rules outlined in the Constitution.

Officer responsibilities – applies to all Executive team and Portfolio Officers

- Work closely with the other Officers on Students' Association campaigns. Some of these may relate to Officers' objectives, but many are often reactive, depending on issues that arise throughout the year.
- Contribute to and influence University strategies through participation in ANU committees, PARSA campaigns, organisational working groups, and informal networking, to ensure that student interests are effectively represented.
- Uphold and advance the reputation of the organisation, attending and speaking at official ANU and other relevant stakeholder events and ceremonies as appropriate (e.g. O-Week talks, graduation).
- Support and promote PARSA activities which support the goals of the Strategic Plan (to be shortly published), including but not limited to O-Week and Welcome Week, elections outreach, face-to-face and social media engagement, membership engagement and feedback, and Students' Association-led events.
- Provide regular reports on efforts to improve the lives of members, and provide opportunities to be held accountable for the progress of this work, at Executive Meetings, Postgraduate Representative Council meetings (PRC), the Annual General Meeting (AGM), and other events as necessary.
- Act as the first point of contact for students with questions or concerns, signposting students to the Students' Association's council members or staff, where appropriate.

PRC Responsibilities – applies to all 31 Council Members

- Exercise good governance by carrying out duties with reasonable care and diligence, in good faith and in the best interests of the Association.
- Become familiar with the Constitution, relevant legislation, organisational policies and SSAF guidelines ahead of taking office, and ensure, with the support of staff, that both the entire Association and individual members of the PRC complies with these regulations.
- Provide the organisation with leadership, contribute to the development of the Students' Association's mission and values, and help promote and raise the profile of the organisation.

- Play a key role in developing the organisation’s strategy, and review and agree to major changes that would significantly alter the organisation’s direction.
- Monitor and assess the organisation’s work in relation to the agreed strategy and budget, and agree alternative action to remedy shortfalls, if required.
- Maintain a robust overview of the principle risks facing the Students’ Association, and take action to mitigate these risk when required.

Executive Responsibilities – applies to the President, Vice-President, General Secretary, Treasurer

- Provide greater operational oversight to the organisation than the PRC, particularly involving legal issues, and those related to strategic direction, finance and risk management.
- Ensure that the directives of the Council, and those approved at general meetings, are implemented.
